

SONGS OF LEADERSHIP 1987

Sung To The Tune Of "One Tin Soldier"

Listen Kramer to a story, that we lived the past two days;
About Leadership '87, and the trip along the way.
In the morning dark and early, we packed our bags for the day;
Heading up for Mount Boney, we saw the trail and cried "oy vey!"

Chorus: Forget about taking showers, we're roughing it all the way
 We hiked the extra four miles, and history was made that day
 We didn't need any buses, we hiked straight to the beach
 We held onto each-other, 'cause we knew the ocean was in reach

Sunny beams upon our shoulders, with our backpacks and canteens
We hiked down through the many boulders, the biggest cliffs we've ever seen,
Finally reaching Circle X, the water fight was next to best
Little did we know there was, another mile 'til we rest.

Upon arrival to Happy Hollows, we laid our bags upon the bugs
Then the trip to the Grottos, afterwards we gave backrubs
We want to sleep with songs and stories, exhausted from what we'd been through
And woke up early in the morning, to the cry of "there's a shoe"

With the cry of "let's go fellows, we started hiking straight uphill
With long sleeves through the poison oak, we hiked until we thought we'd croak
When we say the beach appear, we finally knew that we were here
Thank you counselors for your care, it's tons of love that got us there.
